

SPAC PANEL DISCUSSION

Military Service Topic Tuesday

Students are invited next Tuesday, November 20, at 11 a. m., to be first in a series of student-faculty panels sponsored by SPAC committee of Student Christian association.

Topic for discussion will be "Shall we have universal military conscription?" Speakers on the panel will be: George Stone, photography instructor, taking the affirmative, and Dean of Men Paul Witman, the negative. Dave Webster will represent a student point of view in opposition, while the student affirmative will be Jean Irenbeax. Bob James, SCA executive secretary, will act as moderator.

The faculty members will speak first, followed by the two students. Discussion will follow, with audience participation invited.

Aim of the SPAC panels, says Chairman Bob Huck, is to create more general student interest and knowledge of current world events and problems, through intelligent discussion and objective presentation. More programs of a similar nature are proposed during the course of the year.

Juniors Lay Plans For Pre-Mixer Party

Members of the Junior council met yesterday to discuss plans for coming social events.

First on the roster was the pre-mixer party to be held November 20 in the Women's gym. Plaid shirts and jeans are to be worn. Admission will be by ASB card, the party will be held from 8 to 11 p.m., and only juniors will be admitted. Jackie Popp is chairman, with the following heading committees: Jean Wolff, food; Jan Haggerty and Dale Bower, games; Carol Freire, entertainment; and Marcella Brokofsky, publicity.

George Milias, class president, declares: "All juniors be sure and turn out for the party so we can get a lot of spirit aroused to enable us to beat the seniors in the mixer."

Kathie Landis is in charge of the junior end of the mixer. Her committees are: games, Dadie McNeil; entertainment, Jerry Brown; refreshments, Connie Jones; publicity, Jessie Steingale; tickets and attendance, Carmel Libonati. The mixer is to be held December 4.

AWA SCHEDULES RED CROSS DAY

An announcement from the Red Cross Workroom states that the quarterly AWA Red Cross day and dinner will be Wednesday, December 5. In order to attend the dinner, students must work in the sewing room for at least an hour on that day.

Over 100 garments have been completed this quarter in the sewing room. There is still knitting to be done, however. Yarn for sleeveless and long-sleeved cardigans for service hospitals may be obtained from Miss Jeanette Vanderploeg in the Library, Miss Bernice Tompkins in Room 30, or Miss Clara Hinze in Room 26.

Mrs. Smith Dies

Mrs. Abby Benedict Smith, mother of Miss Dora Smith, reference librarian, died Monday, November 12, in San Jose.

Private funeral services were directed by the John Dowdle mortuary.

Registrar West Prophecies 400 New Winter Students

Almost 50 Readmission Applications Already In; 37 Are From Ex-Servicemen

Defenseless to combat against a steadily decreasing war time population which reached its low point in spring quarter of 1944, San Jose State college came into its own again with the autumn quarter of this year when the number of students enrolled jumped from 1470 to 2472. Registrar Joe West ventures a prediction that the campus will have 400 new students next quarter.

RIVER BOAT TO HOLD BAND AT WEEKEND DANCE

The Swiss American hall will be a Mississippi River scene Saturday night for the "Huck Finn Frolic", which will be held from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Gingham dresses and jeans and plaid shirts will be in style for the evening. Bids for the dance are on sale all week at the library arch for $1, including tax.

Sponsored by Allenian society, the dance will be for all students and their guests. Jack Harcourt's nine-piece orchestra will play for the evening, and there will be refreshments of cokes and popcorn.

Decorations will consist of scenes along the Mississippi River, and the orchestra will play from a spectacular river boat, declare Darlene Wescoatt and Maxine Miller, co-chairmen for the dance.

Committee chairmen for the dance are as follows: Joan Kennedy, patrons; June Koplin, bids; Alice Harker, publicity; Frances Schubert and Bernice Hansen, decorations; Beverly Lervold and Merrilee Will, refreshments; and Claire Engle, orchestra.

Library Exhibits Children's Books

This week is known over the nation as Children's Book Week, and three exhibits have been prepared in the San Jose State college Library to observe it.

Using the theme, "United Through Books," Miss Helen Bullock of the Education Reading room, has prepared a display of appropriate pictures and books. Around the walls of the Education Reading room she has placed reproductions of paintings of children of many lands.

Spears Dine

Two new members of Spartan Spears, honorary sophomore women's society, will be initiated this evening at a spaghetti supper meeting at the home of Miss Margaret Twombly, Health department head and adviser to the group.

Stephen Voorhees and Pat Cribari, the two new members, will share honors with guests Dr. Anita Laton and Mr. Frank Callahan. Mr. Callahan, popular former nightwatchman, has always been a friend of the Spears, according to Miss Twombly.

"We are interviewing prospective students at a rate of approximately 30 a week," West said. Last Winter quarter brought only 106 new students.

Miss Viola Palmer of the Registrar's office reported that readmission applications have already been received and ordinarily the greatest number of readmissions do not even come in until the latter part of the preceeding quarter. With 259 veterans already enrolled, 37 more ex-service men are among those who have placed their applications.

Autumn quarter of 1940 was peak year for the campus population graph, with 4076 students enrolled. At this time plans went into effect for the enlargement of the campus and President T. W. MacQuarrie began his campaign with the state for more land to expand much needed facilities.

Dr. Harrison Heath's statistical methods classes have made up ratios of expansion of population at the college which indicate that the campus is due for a tremendous increase in the number of students in the next few years.

CHANGES MADE IN PLAY CAST

There have been two changes in the cast of the coming Christmas production, Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound", as announced by Director James Butler Friday evening. Charles Perez will play the Duke and Jim Schaar will play Lingley.

The rest of the cast remains the same. Scrubby, a bartender, will be portrayed by Conrad Smith, and Ann and Henry, the romantic interests of the story, who commit suicide in order to be united in the after-world, will be played by Anne Hofling and Brent Morris. Al Johnson will play the cynical young man, Mr. Pryor. Barbara Vaccaro will take the part of Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, a society grande dame. Mrs. Midget, a charwoman, will be played by Shirley Wilber, and the Heavenly Inquisitor by Ed Cerney.

FROSH DANCE

Freshman class will sponsor a Forty-Niner dance December 7 in the Women's gym from 9 to 12:30. Tickets will go on sale November 26 at 35 cents per couple and 25 cents for stags.

Toni Trigo, dance chairman, promises there will be good entertainment and appropriate decorations.

COUNCIL ASKS SENIORS ATTEND NEXT MEETING

Seniors will hold an important meeting for all class members at 11 a. m. in the Little Theater. Business will include information on graduation requirements, vital to every senior, and orientation on coming class activities. It was emphasized at yesterday's council meeting that all seniors must attend if it is possible for them to do so.

Announcement was made that the mixer with the junior class has been postponed one week until December 4.

Election was held for two class historians to take care of the Council Today

Students and faculty are invited to see the campus legislature in action this afternoon, when the Student Council convenes for its seventh weekly meeting of the year.

The meeting will be held in the Student Body office, in the Student Union, and will last approximately an hour and a half.

Regularly scheduled for Monday afternoons, the council meeting is being held on Wednesday this week, since last Monday was a holiday.

scrapbook, and the positions went to Kit McNeil and Pat Doyle. Ruth Peasless, 'overnight' co-chairman, announced the names of sub-committee heads. They include Valda Cardoza, transportation and sign-up; Nettie Suhlens, patrons; Phyllis Forward, food; and Pat Poulsen, entertainment. Mary Hooton reported the receipt of a letter from the management of Asilomar camp, near Pacific Grove.

In answer to queries as to the availability of the camp and rates, the seniors were told they could have Asilomar for $3 per day, including quarters and three meals. Plans for the November 30 overnight, however, call for only supper and breakfast, with the return to San Jose late Saturday morning. Sign-up of those present at the meeting was affected, and all day today there will be a sign-up booth outside the Quad. All seniors who plan to attend the overnight are directed to make reservations there today.

LANYON TALKS

Among the faculty members who have been invited to the Vocational Guidance Conference which is going on throughout this week at Abraham Lincoln High school is Milton Lanyon of the art department. Lanyon will visit Lincoln on Thursday.

Subject of Mr. Lanyon's talk will be a general survey of the art field and the opportunities it holds. He will discuss the education and required training needed for the various kinds of work, as well as the personality requirements. His talk will last for 30 minutes and the balance of the hour will be taken up with questions and answers.

ERO RALLY, 12:30 TODAY

Vet Will Explain Need For Clothes

Explaining the great need for warm clothing to be sent to Europe this winter, James Clancey of the speech department will address students at a rally today at 12:30 in the Morris Dailey auditorium. Purpose of the rally is to encourage contributions to the Ero Sophian clothes drive which started this morning.

Clancey, a veteran of World War II, personally witnessed civilian conditions in Italy.

A fashion show with men modeling the latest fashions will be one of the main features of the rally. The Ero Trio will sing. Chickie Hayes and Patty Moore are in charge of the affair.

Containers have been placed in convenient places around the campus to collect contributed garments. Students are to bring all types of garments to help this worthy cause, says Roberta Ramsey, Ero president.

Ero Sophian is also sponsoring a "Bundle Ball" to be held at 9 o'clock Friday in the Silver Room of the Sainte Claire hotel. Bids are now on sale for $1.25 per couple.

MUSIC STUDENTS INVITED TO PARTY THURSDAY NIGHT

All music majors and minors are invited to a party being sponsored jointly by Mu Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu Alpha on Tuesday, November 20, at 7:30 p. m. in the Student Union. The party is also open to members of the symphonic band and orchestra.

Dancing will be held, with games and novelty entertainment provided during the evening. Refreshments will also be served.

Total admission for the affair is 15 cents. Tickets may be purchased from Miss Eleanor Joy of the Music department, or may be gotten at the door that evening.

'WINTERMIST' IS DANCE THEME

Buddy King's orchestra has been contracted to play for the second annual "Wintermist" dance to be held December 15 in the Scottish Rite Temple, it was announced at yesterday's meeting of the Social Affairs committee.

Decoration committee chairman Pete Galli reported that decorations will carry out the winter theme, and there will be a ski lodge room for refreshments.

Committee members for the affair are as follows: Bids, Sue-Dee Smart, chairman; Midge Doyle, Joan Stuart, and Barbara Clary.

Decorations, Pete Galli, chairman; Patsy Young, Stephen Voorhees, Virginia Mahon, June Robertson, and La Verne Wolcott. Patrons, Greg McGregor, Harold Stone, and Kae Goepfert.

Posters: Gordon Martin, chairman; Jane Burns, Pat Burns, Bea Hohman, Barbara Downing, Bonnie Lingenfelter, and Pat Wolfe.

Refreshments: Willetta Sullivan, chairman; Pat Paulson, Betty Muldoon, and Beverly Clay.

Audubon Club

A regular monthly meeting of the Santa Clara Valley Audubon Society will be held tonight at 7:30 in Palo Alto. All interested faculty and students are invited to attend.

The meeting will take place at the South Palo Alto branch library, 700 Wellesley street.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Mattison will show kodachrome motion pictures taken during a trip from Philadelphia to the Pacific Coast.

Language—Medium For Peace

More Russian students are studying the English language than all other languages put together. Can we grasp the significance of such a trend? Can we comprehend the blessing toward lasting peace that such a move might facilitate? The Germans knew this possibility and made haste to spoil it. In Russia, some 12 billion books went up in flames, but the Nazis could not burn the knowledge that the Soviets had already obtained from that literature.

So, the universities and students of Russia make haste to regain their former status as educators and scholars. They have sent out a plea to the colleges of this nation for books of the English language—classics from Chaucer to Sinclair Lewis and from Shakespeare to London.

An international language is the basis for the expression of ideas that belong to the whole world, the grounds for compromise that may halt the letting of blood, the insight into the customs, the conditions, and the peculiarities that may nip misunderstandings in the bud. We can be a part of this. Russia has asked for books in the English language.

Dean of Men Paul Pitman is receiving these books in his office now. President Robert Gordon Sproul of University of California is chairman of this drive, and Donald Tressider, president of Stanford University, is giving his aid. If you understand the greatness of this trend, then show it by accepting the responsibility that exists. Don't wait for others. —LN

THRUST and PARRY

Dear Thrust and Parry,

A person can find most anything on the editorial page of a college newspaper—from atomic power to off-color sweaters in a rooting section; from asinine questions to snuffles and sneezes. Ha! Why the big hue and cry because certain people do not wear white shirts in the rooting section? It looks nice, yes, but it's also very cold. If a student wears a white shirt, he catches cold at the game, then goes to school the next day and blames the profs for not being easy on him because he has the snuffles.

No one thought to ask the pharmacists Mate 2/c to remove his jumper so his skivvies would blend into the rooting section. The ratio of swab jockies to male students at games is about 10-1. So let's clamp down on the young salties before giving the hopeless male student body heck.

There's also a shortage of white shirts because all women are buying them so they can root.

TANKMEN LOSE TO PALO ALTO HIGH SCHOOL, 13-4

Friday night the Spartan water polo team was defeated by Palo Alto High school, 13 to 4. It was the second game the locals dropped to the peninsula squad.

The first quarter saw hard playing by both teams. San Jose State won the sprint, but soon lost the ball to Palo Alto. One of the Palo Alto boys was within scoring range and tossed the ball in the cage for the first score of the game.

The Spartans fought valiantly to get control of the ball, but Palo Alto definitely had the edge on them and scored a total of four points in the first quarter. Cecil Dombalian, Frank Goulette, and Walt McDonnell each took several shots at the cage, but were unable to squeeze past the Palo Alto goalie.

ON DEFENSIVE

San Jose State made no scoring threat in the second quarter and was on the defensive most of the time. The major portion of that quarter was played in the vicinity of the goal the Spartans were defending. Palo Alto scored four times more.

Walt McDonnell and Stan Chinchon each scored once for the locals in the third quarter. The entire second half was quite evenly matched, with the Spartans scoring four and the peninsula team racking in five.

McDonnell was the high point man of the local squad and also was tied with Bill Love and Vin Wade of Palo Alto for high point honors of the game. The three men each scored three points.

Starting men for San Jose State were Cecil Dombalian, Walt McDonnell, Bob Smith, Alex Marshall, Frank Goulette, Tudor Bogart, and Ben Pettus.

SICK LIST

Frank Goulette was not able to play much in the game because of a knee injury. He started the game but was forced to leave before the end of the first half. Willard "Unc" Hillyer was also unable to play because of a respiratory infection.

Line Play By Spartan Yearling Gridders Outstanding In Saturday's Victory

The Spartans jumped up a few notches in gridiron rating Saturday when they knocked over the strong Merchant Marine Cadet Academy of San Mateo 6-0. The Cadets were a pre-game favorite because of their impressive record of four straight wins and a fine defensive record of only one touchdown scored against them.

However, with a stalwart line that completely out-charged, out-fought, and out-smarted the Cadets, the Spartans turned the trick by earning their third straight win of the year.

BIG BOYS

So far as physical stature goes, the Merchant Marine club was the biggest one the Spartan Yearlings have met this season. According to the information sent San Jose by Hayward officials, the Cadet backfield outweighed us 27 pounds to the man, their club averaging 187 in the backfield to our 160.

The two lines were not so far apart in stature, the Navymen averaging about 187 in their forward wall, to about 182 for the Staters. This, incidentally, is where the play was rough. The field being wet and slippery, the two clubs had to confine most of their attack to the ground, and the opposing lines really went to it.

In addition to the always good play turned in by Bischoff at center, Martin, Picchetti, and Felice were rough on defense from their tackle posts. Bob Campbell and Bob Steele were outstanding at their guard positions, along with DeMello and Frank. There is a quartet of guards that any club on the coast wouldn't mind having.
